Preparer's Note

The following are Roman Catholic and civil marriages occurring between parties then viewed as being of different colors (called races from 1910 onward). Between 1868 and 1888 mixed color marriages were legal per Louisiana Reconstruction statutes. They were also tolerated from 1888 to 1910 in Louisiana until the Louisiana legislature criminalized such marriages in response to State of Louisiana v. Octave and Joséphine Treadaway in 1910.ⁱ

From 1699 to 1868, mixed color marriages were expressly forbidden.ⁱⁱ This led many of us to believe that mixed color marriages therefore did not occur during that period. We were wrong.

When possible, as a courtesy, I have included additional information to aid you in your research. That includes: (1) parents of both parties, (2) paternal and maternal grandparents (only to distinguish individuals of the same forename and surname), (3) Latin descriptors, (4) social station (free, freed, or enslaved), (5) parent alive or deceased at time of nuptials, (6) citation/source information. When no color appears next to names, that individual was considered white (as an exception, I have included "white woman" here to indicate that men of color sometimes married white women, also). If courtesy information enumerated above is absent, it means that I do not have more information to share.

Note that the courtesy information is from additional records on the contracting parties. For Latin descriptors, for instance, which I indicate in italics next to individuals, the actual nuptial contracts below most often exclude those references. But the descriptors used in the pages to follow can be located in baptismal, censorial, and civil records on the individuals. In some cases, like those of the Landrys and Le Normands, the contracting parties were not described as being of color, but their parents had in their youth.

Along these same lines, not all records provide parents' names. I have included them here to aid you in your research. My knowledge of parentage comes from exhaustive research on the persons in question, which I highly encourage researchers to equally pursue. If no parents' names are listed below, it is because I do not know have more information on them married. If you wish to know more on the lineages, please visit my website where you can purchase genealogy, or you're welcome to email me and I can lead you in the right direction. I do have fees for genealogical research, however.

Some Louisiana residents left the state to get married in neighboring states, and even married in different countries. Those marriages I have included as well, as the parties continued to reside in Louisiana (at least intermittently) despite being married outside of the state.

I need to stress that this is an on-going index. The records to follow are not the only mixed color marriages in Louisiana. As I locate new ones, I add them here. So, it is best to revisit the list and pay close attention to the revision date at the foot of the page or on Scribd where it is indicated. If you have records you would like for me to add, kindly email them, with evidence, and I will recognize you for your contribution.

^{iv} An internet family page, at the URL to follow, provides this marriage date, which I have been unable to substantiate, but maintain only because her marriage to Jean LAFRANCE claims that she is widowed by Guillaume DENES. The family page also states that DENES was a native of France. However his parochial death act disproves that: "Guillaume DENES, native of Lau in Ireland, interred 11 April 1746 (SCB 81, 39). <http://bayoubohemia.net/genealogy/getperson.php?personID=I161&tree=basetree>

^v Mariana [Marianne Céleste] DRAGON was born 1 March 1777 in New Orleans, and baptized 2 May 1777 in New Orleans. Parents listed as Miguel DRAGON and María Francisca MONPLAISIR - quarterona libre (SLC, B6, page 13 - copy of original on file).

Gary B. Mills and Elizabeth Shown Mills, Forgotten People: Cane River's Creoles of Color (Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 2013), 348-49, n. 73; Shirley Elizabeth Thompson, Exiles At Home: The Struggle to Become American in Creole New Orleans (Cambridge, Mass.: Harvard University Press, 2009), 38-46.

Marie-Françoise MONPLAISIR-CHAUVIN-BEAULIEU [María Francisca Momplessis Chauvin Beaulieu on marriage], daughter of François CHAUVIN de Monplaisir de Beaulieu and Marianne LALANDE , native of New Orleans, married 30 Dec 1815 Michel "Miguel" DRAGON, native of Athens, Greece, son of Antoine DRAGON and Hélène CLINO. Witnesses were Francisco ADÁN, Andrés DIMITRY, and Juan DE CASTRO (SLC, M6, 165).

Marie-Françoise – quarteronne esclave was baptized 1 Feb 1756 in New Orleans, age 8 months, daughter of Marianne LA LANDE – mulâtresse, both belonging to Mr. LA LANDE, member of the Conseil Supérieur (SLC, B2, page 52, #572 - copy of original on file).

Possibly Marianne LALANDE?: In 1773, at New Orleans, Carlos LALANDE emancipated María, age 60, negra (Midlo Hall, Free Database, MS Excel version, line 323).

^{vi} Have not verified. See http://www.rootsweb.ancestry.com/~laterreb/theycame/families/gedfiles/f_b.htm#0

^{vii} Father probably is Ignace-François BROUTIN, royal engineer and surveyor in Louisiana during the French period, or his son by the same name.

^{viii} Marie-Françoise MONPLAISIR had another daughter:

María Luysa – quarterona libre, was born in July 1781, baptized 5 Jan 1783 in New Orleans, daughter of María Francisca MOPLESÍ and unidentified father. Baptismal sponsors were Antonio LEPIN and Felicite LEPIN (SLC, B 1777-1783, page 319, #11018 - copy of original on file). No indication of their status as free, or as slave, indicated in record, but the index states that the child is free.

^{ix} See pension request for Charles BILLIOT's service in the War of 1812. She claimed to be white and was prohibited from legal marriage, but did so, anyway. Marriage info provided with the pension documents.

^x Father probably is Nicolas DE GRANDE de la Motte, who briefly lived at the Pointe-Coupée or Iberville Posts during the Spanish period.
